

RESIDENTS OF THE FUTURE

Residents Of The Future perform original tunes written and arranged by guitarist and band founder Yuval Ron. The music reveals influences of modern jazz-rock icons, and a mixture of many other contemporary artists from the progressive rock, fusion and metal genres. The music places a constant emphasis on harmonic richness, rhythmical sophistication, dialogue between the players and an extensive use of synthesizers, laptops and other electronic instruments. Residents Of The Future are based in Berlin, Germany, bringing together four internationally rising talents from the next generation of electric Jazz.

The material blends fascinating compositions and spectacular solo improvisations and leads to a musically electrifying experience. The band has released two studio albums and various videos, and has performed at a variety of venues and jazz festivals worldwide – from Europe through North America to New Zealand, gaining extremely supportive feedback and recognition from audiences, the media and fellow musicians alike.

"Yuval Ron & Residents of the Future give the fusion world something to be proud of. To have young men carrying the torch of the genre so highly, and with so much flavor and flair, one cannot help but be impressed." – Jazzrockworld

"The album is a combination of carefully thought out compositions with improvisations, and I just found myself listening and smiling, gently moving with the beat as I feel under its spell." – Prog Archives

"Progressive guitarists such as Yuval Ron are clearly among the 'ruling elite' of modern musicians" – Metal Temple

Yuval Ron - Electric Guitar

Guitarist, composer and band leader Yuval Ron started to play the guitar at age 11. It wasn't long before he became active as a player, songwriter, leader and sideman in local bands which played a variety of styles in Metal music and Hardcore genres.

After being exposed to a myriad of artists from the contemporary jazz, progressive rock and metal genres, he decided to take on the route of jazz improvisation and has since gained some unique approaches to jazz and guitar performance. Yet for most, Yuval is a self-taught musician, exploring the endless boundaries of his instrument and music as a whole. Later on, he kept expressing much of his musical vision through his band Residents Of The Future and collaborating with other musicians.

Touring worldwide, Yuval has performed in some of the major Jazz and music festivals and has recorded several albums and live videos with his band.

Yuval is also vegan and an active supporter of animal rights.

Roberto Badoglio - Bass

Roberto Badoglio is considered to be one of the most virtuosic and melodic bass players among the new generation of Jazz Fusion. His approach to the bass as a melodic instrument has been widely recognized and impressed upon audiences.

After studying with bassists Dominique Di Piazza and Matthew Garrison in his teen years, Roberto attended the Berklee College of music in Boston. Where he studied and played with many influential jazz musicians.

Roberto's music has been a revelation for many listeners and bass players who greatly appreciated Roberto's wild, unrestrained sense for expression and advanced technique.

Alongside joining Residents Of The Future, he keeps working on his further solo and group projects.

Falk Bonitz - Keyboards

Falk Bonitz is an active pianist and keyboards player in the German music scene. While educated as a classical pianist, he arrived to Jazz at the age of twenty. His passion for rhythm and the playing of Latin American music won out, which is clearly expressed in his own Falk Bonitz Trio.

In addition, his musical path led him to theatre as musical director and musician, respectively, on different productions at Volkstheater Rostock, cinema as live improviser for silent film and to performances with German pop stars Dirk Zöllner and Jan Sievers.

Since 2009 he has been living and working in Berlin as a pianist and keyboardist in diverse bands such as Keith Tynes Band, soul band Ricatonie and progressive rock band Hot Fur.

Falk has joined Residents Of The Future in 2013, adding his virtuosity and eclecticism as a keyboards player, pianist and electronic musician.

Yatziv Caspi - Drums

Yatziv Caspi is a professional musician who played in several local and international ensembles as a drummer, percussionist and tabla player. With more than 27 years of experience in playing almost any style in music, he has managed to shape his own way of playing and sound.

As professional tabla player and a master in north Indian Classical music, an exploration journey that began 17 years ago studying the tabla (Indian drum), Yatziv applies these techniques on his drumming and music, becoming a complete artist and varied drummer and percussionist.

Yatziv is a long time member of Residents Of The Future and has shaped its sound and music from the beginning.
